About me

I just moved to Brisbane, Australia from Switzerland. I am actually an introvert but I am open to meeting new people. I work in marketing communications.

Needs

I need to settle into my new job here in Brisbane. I'm slowly getting a hang of it, but it's been 3 weeks now and not a lot of progress.

Pain points

I sometimes struggle to get a hang of the work slang, maybe it is because English is my second language. I would need extra clarification for some instructions.

Goals

I aim to work faster and more efficiently with the team. I also don't want to keep asking for clarification, it tends to get to a point where I see them get a little annoyed.

Scenario

The team's manager instructed the group with specific steps. Work gets delegated to each member including me. I get confused and need to get help. Everyone is too busy to give me a hand. I try to help myself. Slowing down the process.
